

Michele Bocchiola is Research Fellow at the Department of Political and Social Sciences, University of Pavia. Currently, he is working on the ethical and political issues concerning the practice of whistleblowing in complex organizations. Previously, he worked at the Luiss University (Rome) and at the University of Witwatersrand (Johannesburg), where he taught moral and political philosophy. His research interests relate to the thought of Rawls and Cohen, the problem of cultural diversity in Western societies, constructivism in ethics, the philosophical foundations of privacy.

Gian-Luigi Bulsei teaches Applied Sociology at the Department of Humanistic Studies of the University of Piemonte Orientale, where coordinates the Interdisciplinary Research Center on Local Societies; his scientific production covers topics such as: environment, society and public policies; health, welfare and participatory processes; no profit organizations and sustainable development. Among his most recent publications: L'ascolto del territorio. Esperienze di democrazia partecipativa, Aracne, Roma 2014 (with Noemi Podestà); "Il coinvolgimento delle comunità locali nella gestione dei beni ambientali: la pianificazione partecipata di un'area protetta", Economia e società regionale, 2015; "Essere comunità in condizioni avverse", Sociologia urbana e rurale, 2016; "Luoghi e persone: come ricostruire i paesi terremotati?", Aggiornamenti Sociali, 2017.

Carlo Burelli is research fellow at the Center for Advanced Studies (SEE). In 2015-2016 he was Post-Doc Fellow in the ERC Project REScEU, where he investigated political conflicts and realistic forms of solidarity. He received his PhD in 2015 from Università Statale di Milano defending the thesis: The Nor- mative Power of Necessity: Making Sense of Political Realism. In 2014, he was visiting PhD at the University of Cambridge with Prof. Raymond Geuss. He has written on Political Realism, Solidarity and the philosophy of Thomas Hobbes.

Emanuela Ceva is Associate Professor of Political Philosophy at the University of Pavia. She received her PhD in political theory from the University of Manchester. She has held visiting positions, inter alia, at Oxford, St. Andrews, Montréal. In 2018, she will be Fulbright Visiting Scholar at the Harvard Safra Center for Ethics. Her research focuses on issues of value conflict and justice, democracy, corruption, toleration and respect for dissenting minorities. She is the author of Interactive Justice (Routledge 2016) and of many articles that have appeared in such journals as Philosophy Compass, Social Theory and Practice, Journal of Social Philosophy, Journal of Applied Philosophy, Politics, Philosophy & Economics.

Eleonora Montuschi is an associate professor in philosophy of science in the Department of Philosophy and Cultural Heritage at the University Ca' Foscari of Venice and senior research fellow at the London School of Economics. Her research and teaching areas are the philosophy of science and social science, scientific and social objectivity, the theory and practice of evidence, and ethics and science.

Nicolò Valenzano graduated in Philosophy and History of Ideas and is currently a PhD student at the University of Turin (Italy). Recently, he has dealt with issues related to death education. He is currently interested in Philosophy for Communities as an adult education proposal in informal and non-formal contexts.

Federico Zuolo is currently Assistant Professor at the University of Genova. Before joining the University of Genova he held positions in Pavia, Trento, Hamburg and Berlin. His interests include public justification, animal ethics, toleration, respect, the treatment of diversity, and some issues in the history of philosophy. He published a monograph on Plato (Academia Verlag 2009), a new edition of Xenophon's Hiero (Carocci 2012) and an introduction to animal ethics (Etica e animali. Come è giusto trattarli e perché, il Mulino, 2018). He also published in such journals as the International Journal of Philosophical Studies, Ethical Theory and Moral Practice, Utilitas, Journal of Value Inquiry, Journal of Applied Philosophy, History of Political Thought, European Journal of Political Theory, Ragion Pratica, Notizie di Politeia, Journal of Social Philosophy.