

Jack Birner has studied international business administration, economics and philosophy in the Netherlands and the USA. He obtained a PhD in economics and econometrics from the University of Amsterdam. He has taught and done research at the Erasmus University Rotterdam, the University of Maastricht, Université Louis Pasteur in Strasburg and the University of Trento, where he actually is professor of economics. Recent publications include “How Artificial is Intelligence in AI? Arguments for a Non-Discriminatory Turing test”, CEUR Workshop Proceedings, 2014, and “If bad money is a collective bad, isn’t good money a collective good?”, Corvinus Journal of Sociology and Social Policy, 2012.

Chiara Destri is Marie Curie Fellow at CEVIPOF (Centre of Political Researches of Sciences Po), Paris. She has been Postdoctoral Research Fellow at Justitia Amplificata Centre for Advanced Studies, based at Goethe-Universität of Frankfurt am Main and Freie Universität of Berlin (2018/2019) and Max Weber Fellow at the European University Institute in Fiesole (2017/2018). She received her PhD from the University of Milan with a thesis on democratic legitimacy and citizens’ political obligation.

Francesca Graziani is Associate Professor of International law at the Department of Political Science Jean Monnet, University of Campania “Luigi Vanvitelli”. She also teaches International and Europea Union law at the Italian Society for International Organization in the Master course for the Competition of the Career in the Diplomatic Service. Currently, her main area of interest concerns evidence before international courts and tribunals.

Antonio Floridia has worked for a long time in an institute of social research, dealing with public policy analysis, political sociology and electoral studies. Since 2005 he has directed the Sector “Policies for Citizens Participation” and the Electoral Observatory of Tuscany. He has teaching assignments at the University of Florence; and was President of Italian Society of Electoral Studies (2014-2017). He has published numerous essays and books on policy analysis, electoral studies, participatory and deliberative democracy. Among his most recent publications, see the volumes La democrazia deliberativa. Teorie, processi e sistemi (Roma, 2012); Un’idea deliberativa della democrazia (Bologna, 2017); From Participation to Deliberation. A Critical Genealogy of Deliberative Democracy (Colchester, 2017); Un partito sbagliato. Democrazia e organizzazione nel Partito Democratico (Roma, 2019); and the chapters “The origins of the Deliberative Turn”, within The Oxford Handbook of Deliberative Democracy (Oxford, 2018), and “Participatory Democracy and Deliberative Democracy”, within the Annale Feltrinelli 2019 (forthcoming) on “The Future of Democracy” (edited by N. Urbinati and M. Battini).

Gabriele Giacomini is Post-Doctoral Researcher at the Department of Humanities and Cultural Heritage, Università degli Studi di Udine. His research interests include democracy, representation, participation, Internet, public sphere. Amongst his most recent publications: “Verso la neointermediazione. Il potere delle grandi piattaforme digitali e la sfera pubblica”, Iride (2018); “La crisi cronica della democrazia. La razionalità limitata come condizione prepolitica del disagio democratico”, Notizie di Politeia (2018); “Habermas e gli studi sperimentali sul ragionamento collettivo. Sulla praticabilità sociale e politica del principio del discorso”, Politica e Società (2017).

Pietro Maffettone teaches at the Department of Political Science, University of Napoli Federico II. He received his MSc and PhD from the LSE where he was also Fellow in Government. Before joining Napoli he was Lecturer in Global Politics and Ethics in the School of Government and International Affairs at Durham University.

Costanza Marcellino is currently a Research Master student in European Studies at Maastricht University while she works as a Research Assistant for the EUFINACCO network around EU’s financial accountability. She holds a BA in Politics and Economics from the University of Milan. Her research interests include European identity, political participation and voting behaviour.

Annachiara Rotondo is Postdoctoral Research Fellow in international law at the Department of Political Science Jean Monnet, University of Campania “Luigi Vanvitelli”. She is in the editorial board of “Tecnologie e Diritto”. Among her main area of interest there is the application of International law to cyber activities.

Gaetano Vecchione is Assistant Professor at University of Naples Federico II, Department of Political Science. He holds a Master in Economics from New York University and a PhD in economics from Parthenope University of Naples. He has a research fellowship at c.MET05, SVIMEZ and IPE University College. His research spans the areas of economics of migration, institutional quality, regional economics, industry.

