

Mariano Croce and Andrea Salvatore teach Political Philosophy at Sapienza University of Rome. For some time now they have been engaged in a reinterpretation of Carl Schmitt's work, culminating in publications such as The Legal Theory of Carl Schmitt (Routledge, 2013), L'indecisionista. Carl Schmitt oltre l'eccezione (Quodlibet, 2020), and Carl Schmitt's Institutional Theory: The Political Power of Normality (Cambridge University Press, 2022).

Francesco Ferraro is Associate Professor of Philosophy of Law at the University of Milan. He is the author of three books and of book chapters and articles on Jeremy Bentham's thought and utilitarianism, on legal and moral rights, on legislative rationality and 'legisprudence', on nudging, and on the symbolic functions of law. Together with Silvia Zorzetto, he has recently co-edited the volume Exploring the Province of Legislation: Theoretical and Practical Perspectives in Legisprudence (Springer, 2022).

Pietro Maffettone is Associate Professor of Political Philosophy in the Political Science Department, University of Napoli Federico II. Before joining Federico II, he taught at Durham University and at the London School of Economics. His research interests include international ethics and global justice, toleration, and the relationship between ethics and economics. His work has appeared in journals such as PPE, CRISP, Res Publica, Social Theory & Practice, and Philosophy & Social Criticism.

Jacopo Marchetti is a Post-Doc researcher at the Department of Humanities at the University of Eastern Piedmont “Amedeo Avogadro”. He was Post-Doc researcher at the Department of Political and Social Sciences of the University of Florence between 2020 and 2021, where he is currently Affiliate Researcher (Co.co). He was also Assistant Lecturer of Political Theory at the University of Pisa, from which he obtained his Ph.D. in Political and Moral Philosophy in April 2019. Between 2015 and 2016 he has been Fellow Scholar at Italian Institute for Philosophical Studies (“IISF Scuola di Roma”) and at “Magna Carta” (Rome). His interests include Social and Political Epistemology, Philosophy of the Social Sciences, History of Economics and Political Thought. His works include several papers and essays in international peer-reviewed journals and two book (Foucault e Hayek. Tra biopolitica e liberalismo, IBL, 2018; Douglass C. North, IBL, 2022).

Matteo Romani graduated in Philosophy at the University of Genoa in November 2022 with a thesis on oppression and discrimination. During his studies he developed interests in issues such as racism, ethics of migration and national responsibility.