

Marco Giuliani is Professor of Comparative politics at the Università degli studi di Milano. His research interests include electoral behaviour, law-making and the relationship between the European Union and member states. On the same topic of this Quaderno BdL he recently published on the Italian Political Science Review and, with Sergio Massari, on Party politics. With the same co-author he has written a book forthcoming for il Mulino, It's the economy, stupid. Votare in tempo di crisi, Bologna 2018.

marco.giuliani@unimi.it