

Maurizio Ferrera is the Scientific Coordinator of the Comparative Politics and Public Philosophy Lab – LPF. The Laboratory is coordinated by Matteo Jessoula who is also director of the Welfare Laboratory - We.L. [link cliccabile]. Beatrice Magni coordinates the Public Philosophy section and she is director of the Bioethics Lab. (La.B) [link cliccabile]

Scientific Advisory Board

Maurizio Ferrera

Scientific Director of LPF and member of the Scientific Advisory Board of Centro Einaudi. He is Full Professor of Political Science at the University of Milan and a member of the European Commission “High Level Expert Group on Social Investment Policies in the European Union”. He is also a member of several journals’ scientific board: “Comparative Political Studies”, “Journal of European Social Policy”, “International Review of Administrative Sciences”, “European Political Science Review”, “Rivista italiana di scienza politica”, “Biblioteca della libertà”. Finally, he is a columnist for “Corriere della Sera”. Among his numerous publications, the volumes Modelli di solidarietà (Il Mulino 1993), Le trappole del welfare (Il Mulino 1998), Rescued by Europe? (with E. Gualmini, AUP 2004), Welfare State Reform in Southern Europe (ed., Routledge 2005), The Boundaries of Welfare (OUP 2005), and the articles The European Welfare State: Golden Achievements, Silver Prospects (in West European Politics, 2008), A Less Fragile, if More Liberal Europe (in European Political Science, 2009), National Welfare States and European Integration: In Search of a “Virtuous Nesting” (in Journal of Common Market Studies, 2009), Rivisitare Max Weber: ontologia, conoscenza, politica e valori (in Rivista italiana di scienza politica, 2012).

Contact

Personal web page

Matteo Jessoula

Coordinator of LPF and director of We.L – Welfare Laboratory. He is also member of the Editorial Board of “Biblioteca della Libertà”. He is Assistant Professor at the Department of Social and Political Sciences of the University of Milan, where he teaches “Comparative Welfare States” and “Social and Labour Policies”. His research interests concern comparative analysis of welfare systems, European social governance, and processes of institutional change. He has published several contributions, among which the volumes Alle Radici del Welfare all’Italiana (with M. Ferrera and V. Fargion, Marsilio 2012), Labour Market Flexibility and Pension Reforms. Flexible Today, Secure Tomorrow? (ed. with K. Hinrichs, Palgrave MacMillan 2012), La Politica Pensionistica (Il Mulino 2009), and the contributions in journals such as “Selective flexicurity” in segmented labor markets: the case of Italian mid-siders (in Journal of Social Policy 2010, with P. Graziano and I. Madama); Istituzioni, gruppi, interessi. La “nuova politica pensionistica” in Italia (in Rivista Italiana di Politiche Pubbliche, 2011). He is a member of the European Network of independent experts ASISP-Analytical Support on the Socio-Economic Impact of Social Protection Reforms founded by the European Commission. He is also a member of the European Network of experts on Social Protection and Inclusion.

Contact

Personal web page

Beatrice Magni

Coordinator of the Public Philosophy section at LPF and director of the Bioethics Lab. - La.B. She is also co-director of “Biblioteca della Libertà”. She is Assistant Professor at the Department of Social and Political Sciences of the University of Milan, where she teaches “Political Philosophy” and “Theories of Equality and Rights”. Her research interests focus on political conflict as setting for the justification and foundation of the public sphere, criteria for critical citizenship, issues of justice and injustice. Among her most recent publications, the volume Conflitto e libertà. Saggio su Machiavelli (ETS, 2012).

Contact

Personal web page

Antonella Besussi

Full Professor of Political Philosophy at the University of Milan where she teaches “Political Theory”, “Public Ethics”, “Social and Political Philosophy”. She graduated in Philosophy from the University of Pavia and she specialized in Political Philosophy at the University of Cambridge and the University of Harvard. Between 2000 and 2004 she directed the Master Program in Equal Opportunities and Gender Studies. Her teaching and research activities are mostly concerned with the fields of analytical and continental contemporary political philosophy, with a particular reference to liberalism, justice and injustice, agreement and disagreement, truth and politics. Her latest book is Disputandum est. La passione per la verità nel discorso pubblico (Bollati Boringhieri, 2012).

Contact

Personal web

Anna Elisabetta Galeotti

Full Professor of Political Philosophy at the University of Eastern Piedmont in Vercelli. She graduated from The University of Pavia and she was a student of Collegio Ghislieri. She was Research Fellow in many International research centers (Cambridge University, European University Institute in Fiesole, Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, St.Andrews University, Harvard University). Among her publications: Individuale e collettivo (Angeli, 1988); La tolleranza. Una proposta pluralista (Liguori 1994); Multiculturalismo (Liguori, 1999); Toleration as Recognition (Cambridge University Press, 2002); “Toleration, Identity and Difference” in The Oxford Handbook of Political Theory (Oxford University Press, 2006); “Relativism, Universalism, and Applied Ethics: The Case of Female Circumcision” in Constellations, 2007; “Toleration as recognition: The Case of Same-Sex Marriage” in Toleration on Trial (Lexington Books, 2008); Egual Rispetto (with Ian Carter and Valeria Ottonelli, Mondadori, 2008); La politica del rispetto (Laterza, 2010), Lo spazio del rispetto (ed. with E. Ceva, Mondadori, 2012).

Contact

Personal web page

Marco Giuliani

is Full Professor of Political Science at the University of Milan, where he teaches “Comparative Politics”. He is the Head of the Department of Social and Political Sciences and a member of the editorial boards of South European Society & Politics, Rivista Italiana di Politiche

Pubbliche e Quaderni di Scienza politica. His research interests are mainly concerned with the comparative analysis of legislature, with a particular focus on the Italian case, and European Union studies. Among his publications, the volume La Politica europea (Il Mulino, 2006); Governance e politiche nell'Unione europea (ed. with M. Ferrera, 2008); Law-making in Italy in the age of alternation (special issue edited with F. Zucchini, 2008); and the articles, A Long Way to Tipperary: Time in the Italian Legislative Process 1987-2008 (with E. Borghetto 2012); and Leading Governments and Unwilling Legislators: The European Union and the Italian law making, 1987-2006 (with E. Borghetto and F. Zucchini, 2012).

Contact

Personal web page

Gloria Regonini

Full Professor of Political Science at the University of Milan, where she teaches “Public Policies”, “Social Policies”, and “Policy analysis and evaluation”. She graduated in Philosophy at the University Cattolica of Milan. She was Visiting Professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Research Fellow at the University of Harvard, the Nuffield College in Oxford, and at the University Strathclyde, Glasgow. Her research interests concern policy evaluation and policies for the accountability of university systems. Among her publications: Capire le politiche pubbliche (Il Mulino, 2001); “Scienze del pubblico e istituzioni” e “Parlamenti analitici” (in Rivista Italiana di Politiche Pubbliche, 2012).

Contact

Personal web page