

Maurizio Artero (Ph.D), University of Milan. Maurizio's main research interests are in the field of forced migration and urban refuge, as well as how social, legal and economic inequalities are rendered in urban space. His current research deals with practices and policies of refugees' reception and integration in Italy in light of the tension between local policies of exclusion, de-bordering initiatives by civil societies, and practices of "citizenship from below" by asylum seekers and refugees.