

Noemi Magnani holds a BA in Philosophy from the University of Bologna and an MA, MPhilStud and PhD in Philosophy from Birkbeck, University of London. She works as an Associate Tutor at Birkbeck and Graduate Teaching Assistant at King's College London. Her research focuses on contemporary political philosophy and ethics, in particular the relationship between liberalism, autonomy, and the rights of vulnerable individuals.